

COPYRIGHT

The contents of the present website, including all the information, data, communications, editorial contents, software, photos, videos, graphics, drawings and in general any material and service present therein is the property of STILMAS S.p.A. and is protected according to the provisions of Copyright Law.

USE OF THE WEBSITE

The present website and the data contained therein can only be consulted for personal use. No part of the contents can be modified, published, retransmitted, sold, copied or excerpts made, distributed or shown for commercial purposes.

STILMAS S.p.A. has the right to modify at any time as it deems fit the contents and functional and operative procedures of the present site and the services offered.

Users wishing to create a link to the present website must request the permission of STILMAS S.p.A. at the following e-mail address: STILMAS@STILMAS.com, or write to STILMAS S.p.A., 14 viale delle Industrie, 20090 Settala MI (Italy). Users are informed that if STILMAS grants said permission, it is in no way responsible for the content, lawfulness, nature, quality and truthfulness of the information displayed through any link to its website.

LIMITATION OF RESPONSIBILITY

STILMAS will see to the exactness and precision of the information contained in the present website, in addition to the creation of reliable and complete services. Nevertheless, STILMAS does not guarantee updating of the contents and services of this website.

In no case whatever can STILMAS be deemed responsible for damages deriving from use of this website, the impossibility to access it, or information or services provided by it.

Lastly, STILMAS is not responsible for the correctness of information coming from third party sources lying outside the control of STILMAS.

APPLIABLE LAW

The use of this website is subject to the aforesaid terms and conditions as well as to the Italian law.